Not content with securing the backs of the postage stamps for advertising purposes, the enterprising colonial van-dwellers are now casting covetous eyes on the pillar-boxes in the street. A smart Melbourne man has offered to erect new letter-pillars all over that city and fit them with fire alarms having electric communication with the fire brigade. In consideration, provided he is given the privilege of advertising on them. The Postmaster-General has promised to consult his colleagues on the subject.

EXPERIMENTAL FARMS.

It is all but universally conceded that few items of expenditure by the Government of Canada are, or should be, more helpful to the country than the sums annually spent on the maintenance of the experimental farms. The farming community form the great backbone of the country, and what is helpful to them benefits the country as a whole, and every interest therein. If the man is doing a good service to his country who devises some method by which two blades of grass are made to grow where only one grew before, the Government is certainly promoting its best interests in seeking to place before the agricultural community the best and latest information obtainable regarding the conditions of success in their business. In old and well settled provinces of the country, these farms are found to be useful. Stagnation there as elsewhere means really retrogression. We must advance or we are left behind in the race of life. The old methods must give place to new conditions, and the requisite experimenting can best be done by persons well skilled in farming, with proper appliances for doing their work. If they are of service in an old country they are necessary in a new one. There everything is tentative. Experimenting is there the order of the day. But few persons however, are in a position to do this properly for themselves. It requires time, skill, pecuniary resources, and a knowledge of their business, that few possess. And that which they cannot well do for themselves, is fitting that the Government should do for them. The prosperity of the country is intimately connected with the success of this its chief industry; and all things that tend to make farmers more prosperous, all knowledge of the conditions requisite to success here, are to be welcomed. It seems to us that there are two matters at least that should engage attention at our North West Experimental Farms. It is by no means a settled thing in the minds of many of our most intelligent farmers that Red Fyfe wheat is the best wheat for this North West. Various objections are urged against it. It is said not to be a prolific wheat. It shells very easily. It takes longer to ripen than any other species of wheat that has been tried in this country. These are specimens of the objections which are being raised against its being made the wheat of the country. Previous to its introduction, wheat, we are informed, was seldom touched with frost. Then the Goldendrop was chiefly sown. The question is this: What species of wheat will give the best results, quality, quantity, quickness of ripening, etc., considered? Few farmers can make these tests satisfactorily for themselves. Many have not the buildings, etc., requisite for that purpose. But this our experimental farm should be engaged in doing for their benefit. Then as the country will be filled up, fences will be necessary. The only fence possible in this country is a hedge. Any other is beyond the means of the farmers. Now, what is the best material for hedges?—the quickest in growth, the strongest, the one least likely to be affected by somewhat severe frost. This is a question which in the near future will frequently be asked by farmers. What efforts are being made to solve it? Here again is a matter peculiarly appropriate to our Experimental farm. There or some such place only can it be properly solved. We indicate these as most important matters to engage the attention of the gentlemen in charge of our North West Experimental farm. We are glad to learn that the Government are distributing large quantities of tree seeds from the Central Experimental farm, accompanied with directions how to use them. They will greatly contribute, where grown on a considerable scale, to increase the humidity of the prairie and to beautify the homes of the settlers and to counteract that spirit of restlessness which in some measure seems to possess our western people. It goes without saying that the results of the experiments should be disseminated as widely as possible, placing such information within the reach of all. As they fulfill their legitimate purpose, they will do much to keep the people informed as to the best conditions of success and to contribute to their prosperity.

WHAT'S IN A NAME.

The march of progress has left its influence upon the towns and cities of our land, and the dominant race has its records upon the nomenclature of the Rivers, Capes, and even the names of the villages and towns have not escaped this formative power. French influence and the presence of the Romish priests have written this history throughout the Dominion which can never be effaced, and the same may be said of the English speaking race and the Indians. The names borne by the cities and towns of the Dominion declare the dominant race of that period, when the town came into existence, or the presence of some of that race in the vicinity. Abundant proofs of this can be given from the French Montreal to Portage la Prairie, the English Halifax to Victoria, and the Indian Toronto to Winnipeg. Whilst thinking of this we could not refrain from commenting upon the name of our town, as to its influence upon its future. The prosperity of the town often depends upon its name, at least in a measure, as a store will have trade or lose by being upon the sunny side of the street, having an unsightly appearance, or being the site most frequented by the people. Not long ago we heard a stranger ignorantly and solemnly talking about Moose Jaw, and then horrible to relate we had strange day dreams which we dare not describe. There are many Indian names which might be transformed and made to suit as has already been done in the North West. We are desirous of seeing the country prosper, and we venture to say that Medicine Hat and our own town will suffer more in the future than in the past from this unwise nomenclature now in existence. We do not think it is too late to change and we should be glad to hear from others on this matter.

UNBORN NATIONS.

It is interesting to study the topics of the day which attract the pens of ready writers, and with pride we notice the attention which is being paid to our great North West. We cannot forget the influence exerted by Lord Dufferin when he spoke and wrote on behalf of this prairie land. Lord Lorne has always remained a true friend to this country, lecturing and writing in its interests, and by imparting information seeking to induce the hardy sons of toil to come to the North West. He has published lately a couple of breezy letters in the London Daily Graphic, describing the prosperous and happy life of the farmers in Manitoba and the North West. These must do good, especially as he gives proofs of his statements from the experience of settlers. We have here a country the possibilities of which are so vast that we cannot contemplate the future. Our resources hitherto undeveloped, awaiting the genius and wealth of the settlers, are such as to give us unbounded faith in the future. On grain fields, stock districts, forests, coal fields, minerals and fish are unlimited and we might almost say untouched. The heirs of the earth will yet come from the down trodden races of Europe and claim a division of this country. Our prophetic vision looks out upon the vast multitudes who shall yet dwell upon these prairies abroad. "I hear the tread of pioneers, Of nations yet to be, The first low wash of waves where yet Shall roll a human sea."

It is more than "a few arpents of snow" this western land, it is a country of wealth which will shower its bounties upon the industrious denizens of the east. Westward blows the tide of emigration and were we permitted to accompany Bellamy's hero in "Looking Backward" we should be compelled to write the obituary of the "Last European." So mote it be.

BOHARN SPARKS.

We are in receipt of a series of letters published in the Muskoka Herald, by the editor Mr. D. E. Bastedo, of Bracebridge, Ont., where he gives an account of his trip to the North West. He gives a glowing account of the Moose Jaw district, and Boharn in particular, where he was so favorably impressed with our surroundings and advantages as to shipping our produce, and also to the excellent quality of our land. We will reproduce a part of his letter published Nov. 15th. "Ontarians it is generally admitted make the best settlers, although many nationalities are represented. A large amount of English capital has been unjudiciously expended by men who were not experienced farmers, and ignorant of the ways of the country. One gentleman of this class chanced to pass a farmer who was driving a yoke of muley cattle. When he accosted him with, "I say Mr. Hopkins, are those what you call Shorthorn cattle." "Oh yes replied the farmer, these are thoroughbred Shorthorns, just got them from Ontario a few days ago." "Fine stock, fine stock, was the response, never saw a Shorthorn before." Men of this stamp lose their cash and return to England condemning Canada, and the North West in particular." These letters are well written and will be very interesting to the intending emigrant to our territory.... Mr. L. Henderson has returned from Old Wives Creek, where he was ranching..... Messrs. Lamb and McConnell have gone on a fishing excursion to Long Lake..... Bachelors are fraternally doubling up winter quarters.

Cough-Cures

Are abundant; but the one best known for its extraordinary anodyne and expectorant qualities is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For nearly half a century this preparation has been in greater demand than any other remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis, and pulmonary complaints in general.

"I suffered for more than eight months from a severe cough accompanied with hemorrhage of the lungs and the expectation of death. The physicians gave me up, but my druggist prevailed on me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and soon began to improve; my lungs healed, the cough ceased, and I became stronger and healthier than I have ever been before. I would suggest that the name of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral be changed to 'Elixir of Life,' for it certainly saved my life."

"A few years ago I took a very bad cold, which settled on my lungs. I had night sweats, a hacking cough, and great soreness of the throat. I tried many remedies, but received no benefit; everybody despaired of my recovery. I was advised to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, as a last resort, did so. From the first dose I obtained relief, and, after using two bottles of it, was completely restored to health."

GET A FLAG

SCHOOLHOUSE

The movement for holding the Canadian flag on the schoolhouses on anniversaries of noted events in our history is spreading rapidly throughout the Dominion and evoking the hearty approval of all patriotic citizens. Already

"Raise The Flag."—We are glad to notice that the words and music of the patriotic song and chorus "Raise The Flag" has been published in sheet form by the Empire. There is a tone and a saving about the composition which should recommend it at once. It ought to be given into the hands of our children and take a place in the schools with "The Maple Leaf." The words and music were written by Mr. E. G. Nelson of St. John N.B. in connection with the movement for looting the Canadian flag on the school-houses of the Dominion. In order to put it within the reach of all, the Empire places the price at 10 cts and has put the song on sale by all newsdealers.

The event of the season transpired on Wednesday evening when the nuptials of Mr. C. Leary and Miss E. Elmore was celebrated. They were married in the Roman Catholic Church by the Rev. Father Proth of Medicine Hat. The groom was ably assisted through the ceremony by Mr. J. Wilson, and Miss Watson assisted the bride. After the ceremony was over they proceeded to the Ottawa Hotel where a sumptuous spread awaited them, for which Mrs. Jackson deserves all praise. The presents to the bride were well worthy of inspection, and showed the high esteem in which she was held by her friends. During the evening the brass band turned out and serenaded the newly married couple, after which they were invited to partake of a share of the good things with which the tables were loaded.

CHRISTMAS AND HOLIDAY GOODS

A Husband Who Was Interested in His Wife.

"John, I think we'd better advertise for a girl," said a newly-married Toronto lady to her husband the other evening.

"I think so too, my darling," was the reply.

"Then the sweet young thing brought pencil and paper to write the 'ad.'"

"Wanted, a good girl to do general housework," she wrote.

"That ain't enough," interposed John. "Put in something about being neat. I don't want a girl that ain't neat."

"All right darling. 'Wanted, a neat good girl for general housework.'"

"Better say at the end, 'No red-headed girl need apply.'"

"Why, dearest?"

"Oh, I don't want any red-headed girl around."

"Very well. 'Wanted, a neat, good girl for general housework. No red-headed girl need apply.'"

"Might add 'Black-eyed, plump girl preferred.' The husband looked reflectively at the ceiling.

"John."

"The pencil and paper dropped to the floor."

"What is it, my love?"

"I don't believe I want a girl, anyway. They are more bother than they are worth. No, I have decided not to advertise for a girl, John."

Work was commenced to-day, says the Victoria Times, at the Star shipyard, on a new schooner to be built for Capt. John G. Cox and others. The new vessel will be 77 feet registered length, 21 feet beam and 8 feet 6 inches depth of hold. She will be used in the sealing business, and the contract requires her hull to be completed and afloat by the 30th of March.

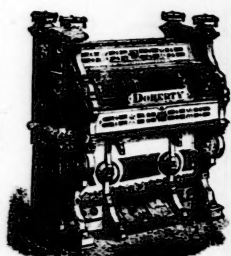

A man refused when appealed to "in the Queen's name" to help a British policeman, and was brought into court for the purpose of testing definitely the policeman's right to assistance under the circumstances. The recreant citizen, though, showed that he was deaf and had the rheumatism, and so the point made is not yet determined.
